This is serial number 10/769,200, entitled Supporting Frameworks, in response to amendment filed on March 14, 2005.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 2, 6, 8, 14-19, 21, 22, 24, and 25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipate by Klemens DE 10055925A1. Klemens discloses a roller (9) with roller support (12), a carrying frame/framework (1-5), a lateral guide elements/workpiece guide (14 one on either side of roller) having a guide portion (11), a lug (10) with lug support (20), a position retainer comprising a catch (22) and a protrusion receiving opening being slot (17).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3632

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title; if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 11 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Klemens, as discussed above. Klemens discloses all of the limitations of the claimed invention except for direction arrows. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to have modified Klemens to have included direction arrow to the guide elements since it is well known engineering design in the art to have a direction arrow printed on a member to direct the user of the rotation or use of the device.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 3-5, 7, 9, 10, 12, 13, 20, and 23 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claim 26 is allowed.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed March 14, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., lateral guide elements maintain a workpiece on the roller by preventing the workpiece from sliding off of the roller in an axial direction.) are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993).

In response to applicant's arguments regarding claim 1 that DE 1055925 A1 does not disclose "lateral guide elements in the active position being exposed toward a top supporting surface of the roller" the examiner would like to point out that the lateral guide elements (14 would include elements 11) when in the active position are toward the top supporting surface of the roller (9, see figure 6). Similarly as to claim 14, the workpiece guide (14) does include a guide portion (11, this includes the underside and top surface of element 11) which when in the active position is exposed toward a top supporting surface of the roller (9).

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
